Megan Rudroff with Rudy Lane Flower Farm, which is a family-owned and operated farm in Rich Fountain, Missouri is our February speaker. In 2019, she started some seeds as a fun spring project with her daughters. From there, her husband, Layne, tilled a couple little garden beds, where they transplanted the little sprouts into the beds. Over that summer, they gathered the blooms and arranged them in mason jars. Megan said the joy those first flower brought fueled the desire to make the flower garden into something more. In the fall of 2019, they planted over 200 peony plants and from there they've added hundreds of dahlias, twice as many peonies, countless varieties of annual. She sells her flowers from her farm, at markets, and to local florist. Join us as we hear the joys gardening has brought to this family.
